Technical comments

Review comments: 1

1. The abstract should summarize the motivation, approach, key outcomes, and relevance of the study in a concise manner (150-200 Words).
2. Introduction needs to be revised to present adequate context, problem definition, and the study's contribution and objectives.
3. Verify that each figure and table is introduced and discussed appropriately within the main text.
4. In literature review, critically analyze prior research works to highlight the existing research gaps, thereby justifying the novelty and the need for the current study.
5. Incorporate a comparative analysis table to show the improvements of the presented approach over existing methodologies.
6. Cross-check all in-text citations for accuracy and ensure each cited work is listed in the reference section following the required style (APA/Chicago).
7. Remove any page numbering, headers, or footers to comply with the formatting guidelines for submission.
8. The manuscript should be edited for proper English language, grammar, punctuation, spelling, and overall style.
